Principal's Message

Dear Families,

It is with great pleasure that I announce our SMS candidate for Character Counts this year. Jane Rolandelli is an exceptionally kind and caring 8th grader, and she shines in her role as a WEB leader with 6th grade students. Jane quietly exhibits the pillars of Character Counts every day and is welcoming and sensitive to the needs of others. Congratulations Jane! Jane will be recognized at the District's Character Counts Breakfast on October 23 along with one of our Business Partners Rack Room Shoes, which has provided free shoes to our students in need over the past few years. We are grateful for their generous support.

Inquiry Hour has launched this semester with a couple of updated features. Every student is involved in Project Based Learning this semester based on grade level themes. From exploring the impact of locality on potable water, to creative writing focused on Science fiction and technology, to building a hand washing device for elementary age children in Africa, our goal is to ignite curiosity, passion and excitement in our students. All students have selected a project they are interested in and are encouraged to take their ideas and explore the world around them. I invite you all to join us on Wednesday, November 20th from 8:00-11:00am for an Exhibition Event which will showcase some of the projects our talented students have developed.

I am thrilled to announce that our Greenhouse has been installed! We are now proceeding with connecting utilities, purchasing planting benches, and researching seedlings. We are grateful to the Halbrook Family Foundation for their generosity and patience in making this fantastic addition to our campus possible. Stay tuned for an announcement regarding a Grand Opening!

Finally, I am grateful as ever to our wonderful PTO who continuously support our students and staff to enrich the educational experiences at SMS. Be sure to read all about upcoming events organized by PTO on page 6 of this newsletter, including a family-friendly evening dodgeball tournament on Thursday, November 21.

Yours in partnership,
Kirstie Gabaldon
Principal

3 Tips for Parents to Teach Healthy Study Habits to Teens

Teens often struggle to manage studying, sleeping, and their social life, and when given the choice, a little shut-eye is often sacrificed. But compromising sleep for studying can do more harm than good, according to a recent study in the journal Child Development. High school students who sacrificed sleep to hit the books had trouble understanding new material and struggled on tests and assignments the next day, researchers report. An adequate amount of sleep is critical for academic success. Adolescents devote less time to sleep as they age, and when they sacrifice the precious little sleep they get for extra studying, it has negative consequences for their daily academic performance.

Parents can help their students by monitoring sleep time and developing consistent study routines that help their teens stay on top of due dates and deadlines. It's important for parents to be in the know. They need to have an idea of the upcoming expectations or projects, because parents are the ultimate prompt.

These three tips can help parents promote healthy sleep and study habits with their teens.

1. Set a schedule: Studying should be part of your student's daily routine, not something he or she tries to cram in the night before a test. Advising students to parse out their study time over the course of the week, rather than letting due dates dictate their study time, will produce better results. Preparing for tests ahead of time can reduce anxiety, and finishing assignments ahead of schedule can be rewarding for students. Parents and students should write testing/project dates and major deadlines on a calendar or planner to serve as a visual reminder.
2. Eliminate distractions: Cell phones, Facebook, and TV can quickly interrupt a productive study session. Curb your teen's temptation to tune in, text, or update their status by shutting down any unnecessary electronics during scheduled study times. Especially cell phones, it's like their third eye at this point, which is such a distraction! Since students often need a computer to complete online assignments or type papers, parents should periodically check in with their studious teens to gauge if they're going onto social media sites versus typing out an essay.
3. Break it up: Maintaining focus during a two-hour study session may be challenging, so know your teen's limits and divvy up study time accordingly. Being aware of their attention span can help you structure their study time so that it will be successful. Parents might also set milestones for large projects or important tests such as midterms or college entrance exams. Don't attempt it all in one piece, but break it up into smaller tasks.

Growth Mindset Grading Policies at SMS

With first quarter report cards posting on Home Access Center (HAC) on October 29, parents may be wondering exactly how their student's grades are compiled. Like all schools in St. Johns County, SMS uses the following district-wide grading policy:

- 30% formative assessments (which includes 5% homework grades)
- 70% summative assessments

The difference between "formative" and "summative" assessments are as follows:

Formative assessments are measures used throughout the learning process to provide feedback that promotes learning and informs instruction. These may be quizzes or chapter tests, designed to test not only what the student has learned, but more importantly what he or she has still yet to master. So when you see a "bad" grade on a formative assessment in HAC, do not despair! As a growth mindset school, we embrace mistakes, as they help us identify what our students still need to learn. At least two formative assessments must be given prior to each summative assessment during a quarter, and most teachers set up their grading policy with many more grades than that so students have plenty of chances to bring up one poor grade.

Summative assessments are more comprehensive evaluations aligned to specific standards at the end of a defined instructional period or unit of study. These assessments are weighted more heavily as our students have been given the chance to practice and relearn via the formative assessments. Nevertheless, when a student scores less than 85% on a summative assessment, he or she does have the opportunity to retake that test before the end of the quarter to earn up to an 85%. A minimum of 3 summative assessments per quarter will be given.

Our goal at Sebastian Middle School is for students to view learning as a challenge and the difficulty of material being learned as a way to grow their brains. If your student is able to master every subject at school without ever studying or receiving a poor grade, then she or he isn't being challenged and may be bored. The struggle to learn is what sticks with us. Embrace it!

Inquiry Hour at SMS

This year at SMS is all about Inquiry! We want our students to be curious about the world around them, to think creatively about how to address problems which have both local and global impacts, and to be able to work together in groups to design solutions to such problems. Inquiry Hour is held from 12:00-12:50pm every Wednesday for an 8-week period in both the fall and spring semesters. This fall, students are developing projects to address the following learning themes and essential questions for each grade level:

- 6th Grade – Changes: How can we make water potable and accessible for all?
- 7th Grade – Choices: How do technological innovations affect society?
- 8th Grade – Challenges: How can we stop the spread of diseases?

In selecting their Inquiry Hour, students were given both "voice and choice" by electing to participate in a group with the following end products:

- Engineering and Technology product (robotics, coding, 3-D printing, environmental, construction)
- Science-related product
- Humanities (art, written/spoken word, drama, PSA)
- Calculations/Probability/Equations-based product

Students will have an opportunity to present their projects to their families and other members of the community at our school-wide Exhibition Day on Wednesday, November 20, 8:00 – 11:00am. Please plan to join us!

Help SMS Avoid Catalog Sales by Supporting the Alternative Fundraiser!

This year's Alternative Fundraiser has raised a total of $1,820 so far thanks to the generous support from parents, grandparents teachers and staff at SMS who were pleased with the prospect of avoiding catalog sales this year. It's not too late to help the PTO reach its goal of $2,000! You can send cash or a check made payable to the SMS PTO in with your student anytime to drop off in the Front Office. Gifts of any amount are welcomed, and 100% of your donation will benefit our students and teachers this year at SMS. Thank you so much for your support of the PTO!

Dodgeball Tournament – November 21, 5:30 – 8:00pm

Putting the "fun" back into fundraising, the PTO is hosting the first ever SMS Dodgeball Tournament this fall! Doors to this event will open at 5:30 pm with food and fun, and the dodgeball action will begin in the gym at 6:00pm. A total of 20 5-member teams (4 adult teams and 16 student teams) will compete to be the Dodgeball Champion of SMS. Participation on a team costs only $10 per player ($50 per team) and event spectators will pay a $1/entrance fee. Player registrations are due by October 15. This event will fill up quickly, so get your team together today and/or mark your calendars to bring the whole family out to SMS to watch the fun!

Volunteer Opportunity: SMS Eagle Store

Once a month, the PTO opens the "Eagle Store" during all three lunches and needs adult volunteers to run it successfully! The Eagle Store is a key part of the SMS Positive Behavior Incentive System (PBIS) which rewards students for good behavior with PBIS points. Students may spend their points on items such as school supplies, earbuds, books, and other fun items in the store. If you have a few hours to spare, volunteering on a Friday to help with the Eagle Store is a wonderful way to interact with our students. Please email PTOSebastian@gmail.com to be added to the list of potential volunteers. In lieu of time, the PTO also gratefully accepts any donations of items to sell; please mark items for "Eagle Store" and drop off in the Front Office at any time. Thank you for your support!

The EMMA Concert Association in St. Augustine recently presented SMS Music Teacher Charles Rogers with a generous gift of $1,450 to be used to purchase violins for our String Orchestra program at SMS. Founded in 1979, EMMA is a nonprofit, all-volunteer organization dedicated to bringing quality music and dance programs to St. Augustine at modest ticket prices.
