WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH

March was Women's History Month. In addition to highlighting books written about women or by women, we worked with drama students to create a video explaining why we celebrate Women's History Month. Check out the video through this link. ELA classes watched the video during their bi-weekly library visits.

FORMS OF MINECRAFT GOVERNMENT

Civics collaborated with the Media Center to hold their annual Minecraft Forms of Government lesson. Students were grouped by four forms of government: Representative Democracy, Socialism, Monarchy, and Communism. Students built homes, government buildings, shops, schools, and other buildings that make up a community.

BATTLE OF THE BOOKS

On March 9th, the St. Johns County middle school Battle of the Books was held virtually. Our team did their best to beat out the other middle schools but came just short of placing third place, tying with several schools for fourth place. Back row left to right is Brooklyn, Glamorous, Gracie, Greg, Emily, Sophia, and Taylor. In the front row is Hannah and Andy.

MORE ART OF COLLABORATION

Art students used Canva to create computer graphic design versions of Kehinde Wiley style art. With Canva, students were able to remove the background of photos of women artists (to celebrate Women's History Month). Then they added a background of that artist's work. Their presentation also included a brief biography, more pictures of the artist, and additional pictures of their work.
